Tour highlights

Set off on a group journey across Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan, where snow-capped peaks, turquoise lakes and ancient Silk Road cities await. Begin in Almaty, Kazakhstan's leafy former capital, before venturing into the dramatic red rock formations of Charyn Canyon. Continue to the alpine Kolsay Lakes, often called the "Pearls of the Tian Shan", and the submerged forest of Kaindy Lake, where sunken spruce trees rise from crystal-clear water. Crossing into Kyrgyzstan, explore Karakol, the red cliffs of Jeti-Oguz Gorge and the fairy-tale rock formations of Skazka Canyon.

The journey continues with a taste of nomadic life in Bokonbaevo village, home to Kyrgyzstan's eagle-hunting traditions, and a felt-making master class in Kochkor before arriving in Bishkek. From there, fly to Uzbekistan for the heart of the Silk Road: the vibrant streets of Tashkent, the majestic monuments of Samarkand and the beautifully preserved old town of Bukhara. An optional 14-day version adds the walled city of Khiva.

Difficulty: Easy. Easy sightseeing tour with optional moderate sections: the walk of about 40 minutes down into Charyn Canyon to the river (and back up) and the walk down the hillside to Kaindy Lake. Several long road days of 200–440 km, one land border crossing (Kegen) and the Shymbulak cable car up to about 3,200 m.

Almaty - Charyn Canyon - Kolsay Lakes

After breakfast, depart Almaty and travel east towards one of Kazakhstan's most spectacular natural attractions, Charyn Canyon.

Often compared to the Grand Canyon, Charyn stretches for more than 150 kilometres and is renowned for its dramatic landscapes. Explore the famous Valley of Castles, where wind and water have carved the sandstone into impressive towers, cliffs, and fortress-like formations.

Take a scenic walk down into the canyon, approximately 40 minutes, until reaching the Charyn River. Surrounded by striking red and orange rock walls, the area offers excellent opportunities for photography and quiet appreciation of the landscape.

Enjoy lunch at a cosy café near the canyon before continuing to the Kolsay Lakes, a tranquil mountain destination nestled in the northern Tien Shan.

Arrive in the late afternoon and settle into a welcoming guesthouse. Breathe in the fresh mountain air, admire the peaceful alpine surroundings, and enjoy a homemade dinner before relaxing for the evening.

DAY 3

Kolsay Lakes - Kaindy Lake - Kegen Border - Karakol

By road, approximately 250 km. After breakfast, check out and continue to the extraordinary Kaindy Lake, famous for its mysterious submerged spruce forest.

The lake was created following a powerful earthquake in 1911, when a landslide formed a natural dam and flooded the surrounding forest. Today, the weathered tree trunks rising dramatically from the turquoise waters create an unforgettable and almost otherworldly scene.

Walk down from the hillside to the lake to enjoy the views, or, as an optional experience arranged locally, make the journey on horseback.

On the return journey, stop at a local village home for a hearty homemade lunch. Continue towards the Kegen border, where you will complete the necessary crossing formalities before entering Kyrgyzstan.

From the border, continue by road to Karakol, a charming town located at the foot of the Tien Shan mountains.
